

Personal Protective Equipment

Drawer boxes · Cabinets · Doors

OSHA 29 CFR 1910.132–138 · Hearing 1910.95 · Woodworking machines 1910.213

DATE _____ FACILITATOR _____ DEPT / SHIFT _____ HEADCOUNT _____

WHY THIS MEETING

In this shop, saws, CNC, sanders, and staplers throw chips and dust. PPE is the last backup after guards and dust collection. Wear what the job needs. Take damaged gear out of service.

TALKING POINTS

1. Safety glasses stay on in the shop — saws, CNC, sanding, and assembly throw chips, dust, and staples.
2. Wear hearing protection at the saws, widebelt, edgebander, and CNC. If you have to raise your voice, put plugs or muffs in.
3. No gloves at the table saw, shaper, jointer, or router. A glove can catch and pull your hand into the cutter (1910.213).
4. Use cut-resistant gloves when you handle sheet stock, doors, or hardware — then take them off before you run a machine.
5. Cracked glasses, torn gloves, or a dirty respirator do not protect you. Turn them in before you start.

IN THIS SHOP, WEAR

- Eyes: glasses with side shields in the shop. Add a face shield when changing a cutterhead.
- Hearing: plugs or muffs at loud machines for the whole run.
- Hands: right glove for sheets and hardware. None at spinning cutters.
- Feet: closed-toe work shoes. Panels and hardware drop.
- Dust / finish: only the mask or respirator you were trained to wear. A comfort dust mask is not a respirator (1910.134).
- Chemicals: gloves and eye protection on the SDS for glue, stain, and cleaner.

DO

- Put glasses on before you walk into machining.
- Store clean PPE so the next shift can use it.
- Ask if the glue, finish, or machine setup changed.

DON'T

- Do not take side shields off your glasses.
- Do not run a saw or sander with glasses around your neck.
- Do not share earplugs or a sweaty respirator.

ASK THE CREW

1. At your station today — saw, CNC, sanding, assembly, or finish — what PPE is required?
2. Where do people take glasses off when they should stay on?
3. If your glasses or gloves fail mid-shift, where do you get a new pair?

STOP WORK IF

Required PPE is missing or damaged, or someone says to skip glasses or hearing protection “just for this cut.” Get a supervisor.

ATTENDANCE · PRINT NAME AND INITIAL

1. _____	2. _____
3. _____	4. _____
5. _____	6. _____
7. _____	8. _____